LEONINUS

VOLUME 18
1951

NEW HOLLAND

NEW HOLLAND
PENNSYLVANIA

Foreword

Once more an edition of the high school yearbook has rolled off the press, and once more the publication, in its royal blue and white covers, bears, for the eighteenth year the title, "Leoninus". Permit us to explain the traditions which have been willed to this edition by former yearbook staffs. Because the "king of beasts", the lion, is the crowning symbol of our school seal, the term "Leoninus", derived from the Latin word, Leo, has been adopted as the name of the school yearbook. As a result, the title "Leoninus" appears on the yearbook covers, the colors of which are dependent upon the class colors.

Our objective in preparing this 1951 edition of the "Leoninus" has been to record on paper a summary of the more important elements of our school career. To go beyond a summary would be unnecessary, because even the most complete publication would not be able to capture those elements of our secondary education which will remain with us long after we have "gone forth in this world to show our school what we can do".

Since the first yearbook was published in 1934, these books have served their readers in numerous ways . . . they have become a source of reference and information about graduating classes, and they have acted as a bridge to span the brink which separates the public from the school. However, it is our desire that this 1951 "Leoninus" act as a last contact with our Alma Mater and in so doing, bind the members of the class of 1951 together in eternal brotherhood. Though the class of 1951 will be separated in body, this "Leoninus" will link them in spirit.

Dedication

We, the members of the graduating class of 1951, consider it an honor to dedicate the eighteenth edition of the Leoninus to two of the most sincere, hard-working, and sympathetic advisors we have known in our high school career. Mr. J. Kenneth Herr and Mr. Robert G. Weaver, our class advisors for the past four years, have had the rare talent of foreseeing and correcting our difficulties and maladjustments in the light of making us better and more useful members of society.

To Mr. Herr, advisor to the academic and general section of our class, we extend our heartfelt thanks for a splendid display of sincere leadership in all fields of our school endeavor. He has truly been one whom we respect for his intelligent decisions concerning the proper guidance of students and the correct supervision of our class activities.

Mr. Robert G. Weaver, advisor to the commercial and home economics section of our class, has given us patient, democratic guidance in all our undertakings. His deep intellect and excellent sense of humor will always be remembered. By thoughtful leadership he has aided in developing our individual talents to the greatest extent.

Yes, to Mr. Herr and Mr. Weaver, we dedicate this publication in the hope of recapturing some of the countless happy moments we, the members of the Class of 1951, have spent with them. We shall always remember these two sincere men whom we, as a class, consider our closest friends.

Class History

By Wilson A. Foust, Jr.

Fifty-six members of the Class of 1951 have walked the halls of our Alma Mater for their last one hundred and eighty days. Our first activity in those one hundred and eighty days, as Seniors, was the presentation of our class play, entitled, "A Ready-Made Family". But wait! How did we earn the title of Seniors?

All fifty-six of us began earning the title of "Senior" twelve years ago. Twelve years of class history, the early part of which might be termed "time immemorial", for as the dictionary states, it goes "back beyond memory".

On the opening day of school, twelve years ago, eighteen present-day members of the Class of '51 entered the halls of our Alma Mater for their first one hundred and eighty days. The nineteenth future senior, Ted Sheaffer, was late! Outside our red brick building the little boy stood and wondered where everyone was. Finally, the operator of the nearby Mobilgas Station walked across North Railroad Avenue, and, seeing the puzzled first-grader, helped him to find the other eighteen members of the Class of '51, and our first teacher, Miss Maria K. Bender.

Mrs. Bernard Rife, now deceased, was our second grade instructor in 1940-1941.

In 1941, twenty-one members of the Class of '51 entered third grade, and were taught by the late Mrs. Barton H. Overly.

All twenty-one Seniors who attended fourth grade at New Holland, got their first taste of a class play during that 1942-43 term, when under the supervision of Miss Mary Harsh, our class presented Dickens' "Christmas Carol".

The following term, twenty-two future Seniors entered grade five under the instruction of Mrs. Anna S. Diller. Mrs. Diller can recall the day that Ted Sheaffer came to school wearing glasses for the first time. "He sat there," she said, "with a look of amazement on his face, and saw things he never saw before."

In sixth grade, supervised by Miss Helen B. Fenninger, we assembled a display of from 300 to 400 pets in the form of paperweights, pin cushions, etc.

Twenty-three members of our present class entered their first year of Junior High School under the supervision of Miss Louise Bair, now Mrs. Laverne Whitmer.

Miss Francis Baum was the homeroom teacher for the Class of '51 in eighth grade.

Forty-two present members of our class began their final four years of Senior High School here. 1947-48 class officers were: President, Donald Weaver; Vice President, Martin Nolt; Secretary, Jean Showalter; and Treasurer, Connie Stone.

Donald Weaver was elected president of the Class of '51 in our Sophomore year, and he was aided by Robert Kissinger, Vice President; Shirley Ruoss, Secretary; and Ted Sheaffer, Treasurer. Mr. Kenneth Herr and Mr. Robert Weaver shared homeroom responsibilities for our 57 members. During that school term, our class went to Hershey to see the Ice Follies.

In our Junior year, Mr. Robert Weaver and Mr. Kenneth Herr again served as homeroom teachers of our class. Last year's class officers were: Donald Weaver, President; Ray Bair, Vice President; Harriet Ewell, Secretary; and Harold Hess, Treasurer. Taking advantage of the mid-century year 1950, our class selected for its Junior-Senior reception theme, "The Turn of a Century".

There's the story of how fifty-six students have earned the title "Seniors". But that's not the end. Oh to be sure, the Baccalaureate and Commencement Exercises still remain on our calendar . . . but there's more to the story . . . for the time has come for the Class of 1951 to "go forth in this world and show our school what we can do" and long after we have left the halls of our Alma Mater we'll still be making class history.

"He's Going To Have One Of His Mad Attacks!"

"And This Is The Baby, Little Gracie!"

"A READY-MADE FAMILY."

"Water! Smelling-salts! Peruna!"

"Horatio! Horatio!"

"Let Me Get Out Of Here!"

"I Am Wicked Old Bluebeard!"

Varsity Basketball

Perhaps the number one sport enjoyed both inter-scholastically and intramurally at New Holland High School is basketball. An early start is provided for hoop enthusiasts in school as a result of the 1947 formation of a junior high school ball team which is composed of boys from grades seven, eight and nine. Any student who has potential basketball power may continue his court career during his Sophomore, Junior and Senior years by playing on the junior varsity or the varsity hoop squads, depending upon his ability.

Last year's varsity nine created basketball history in Lancaster County, when they attained the Eastern Pennsylvania, Class C, championship, after defeating West Wyoming, 45 to 41. Many local basketball fans who were aroused by last year's unforgettable season, again followed the Huskies this year as they ended their league schedule in second position after retaining first place throughout the season. Ending the schedule in a first place tie, the Maroon and Gray team received their second place standing after participating in a post-season playoff game with East Lampeter on February 13.

We're here from New Holland High;

We're here to stay. With our team
We'll fight and cheer to a glorious

Journalism

Many schools which are on an equal status with New Holland High School in regard to attendance, are not served with the complete journalistic facilities and coverage which New Holland possesses. A school newspaper, published eight times yearly, a yearbook published annually and an international honorary society for high school journalists.

Published for the past sixteen years, the Town Clock News is composed of an editorial staff consisting of twenty students from grades ten through twelve, and a business staff operated by eleven pupils from the Junior and Senior High Schools. For the past two years, the Town Clock News has been awarded a second place rating by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Previous to this, for seven years the paper received a first place award from the Association.

Each Spring, the product of many months of preparation, the Leoninus, is published by the yearbook business and editorial staffs, which are composed of members of the Senior class. Since the 1948 edition of the Leoninus, the book has received a second place rating by the Pennsylvania Scholastic Press Association. This year's Leoninus marks the eighteenth year of publication of the yearbook.

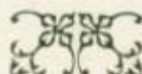

Twelve Junior and Senior students are members of this year's Quill and Scroll and in the capacity of acting as honorary journalists, the group endeavors, through the medium of the New Holland Clarion, to bring to the public, news from the school world. In addition to this service, the organization plans weekly posters for the school's bulletin boards and also maintains an up-to-date file on alumni.

With these journalistic groups the Quill and Scroll bringing weekly school news to the public, the Town Clock News publishing a complete account of school news eight times annually, and the Leoninus summarizing the entire school term, the students of our Alta Mater can stamp their approval on the pace journalism has set at New Holland High.

"In order to provide the students with a governing body, based on democratic principles, as an instrument coalescing the efforts of the students and faculty, to be achieved by a closer cooperation, and by giving the school citizen an opportunity to exercise his democratic rights and guarantee his privileges, we do ordain and establish this constitution for the Student Council of New Holland High School."

Those words, although they are unfamiliar to the majority of students, have, as the preamble to the Constitution of the Student Council, preserved the democracy which is present in our school system. During its first four years, the Student Council has compiled a commendable record of achievements, and has certainly carried out the provisions contained in its Constitution. Through the Student Council, young Americans have been introduced to the basic principles of democracy which are so essential to the creation of a peaceful world.

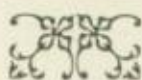

Since its origination in 1947, the Student Council has been under the unexcelled leadership of Miss Elizabeth Troxell, who, with patience and understanding, has guided the organization in its many undertakings. Among the outstanding accomplishments of the Council have been originating the idea of the formation of a Lancaster County Student Council Association, promoting the standardization of the high school ring and supervising democratic school elections.

As a necessary portion of the extra curricular activities, the Student Council has definitely benefited each individual school student and has contributed toward a well-rounded school program.

School Band...

Under the able direction of Mr. William Swackhamer, the New Holland High School Band has achieved recognition as a topnotch musical organization. In the past three years, two members of our Band have been awarded medals in appreciation of their musical ability by the State Band. Lee Stauffer was recipient of a medal last year, and Joan Terry was accorded that honor this year. In addition, Margaret Ann Martin received a medal from State Orchestra.

Many of our assembly programs open and close to the strains of a rousing march rendered by the Band.

During this school year, the New Holland High School Band participated in the Farm Show parades at New Holland, Ephrata, and Mount Joy. As part of New Holland's Farm Show celebration, our Band also took part in the Baby Parade. Last autumn it marched in the Hallowe'en Parade at Terre Hill.

As part of the Parent-Teacher Association's schedule this year, the Band presented a concert before the PTA members at one of the organization's meetings. It also entertained the students of our high school with two assembly program concerts.

In cooperation with the Senior Chorus, the Band presented New Holland High's sixteenth annual Spring Concert on April 20, which featured modern music as the main theme.

On May 5, the Band participated in the County Safety Patrol Parade, at Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Yes, all the students at New Holland High School are sincerely grateful to their Band for the fine job it has done in adding to our appreciation of music and increasing the popularity of our school.

The Tri-Hi-Y Girls organization was introduced to the Senior High School program for the first time this year. Under the indirect supervision of the Young Women's Christian Association, this club exists with the announced purpose of "creating, maintaining, and extending throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character".

During the first year at New Holland, many timely topics of interest to all teen-age girls were discussed at the weekly meetings.

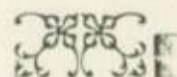

As one of its activities, Tri-Hi-Y sent several of its members to attend a mock United Nations Assembly meeting in the Dauphin County Court House at Harrisburg. This was another example of the manner in which the Tri-Hi-Y organization prepares students to be better citizens of our democracy.

Under the able guidance of Miss Elizabeth Troxell, faculty advisor, Tri-Hi-Y has been assured a permanent place in our school life.

Parent-Teacher Association Calendar 1950 - 1951

October 23.—Meeting Topic—"The New Report Cards."

December 11.—Meeting. Book Review, "A Happy Christmas" by Daphne du Maurier. Speaker, Mrs. Charles Workman.

January 29.—Town Hall Meeting. Motion picture entitled "Joe Turner . . . American" was shown.

March 12.—Meeting. Report—"The Self-Evaluation and the Outside Evaluation Report on Our School."

April 9.—Meeting. Topic—"Steps Toward Consolidation." Speaker, Mr. Bowman, State Department of Education.

Since its origin last year, the New Holland Parent-Teacher Association has backed the New Holland Schools in activities of great significance to the students and the faculty alike. In order to better acquaint the PTA members and the faculty, a one-half hour period has been set aside previous to the opening of each gathering in order that the parents might have the opportunity to visit the faculty members in their respective homerooms. To spur attendance at each meeting, the Parent-Teacher Association is holding a membership contest in which they are awarding a plaque and a cash prize to the homeroom having the largest percentage of parents represented. At the end of the school term, the Parent-Teacher Association will present a grand prize to the homeroom which is able to retain the plaque longest period of time.

Our Parent-Teacher Association has also:

1. Acted as an advisory group and provided chaperones for the Teen Canteen.
2. Organized a "Home-Room Mothers' Club" to assist the faculty.
3. Collected toys, books and records for use in the Kindergarten.
4. Supported Saturday morning basketball for grades five to twelve.

To the Parent-Teacher Association . . . the Leoninus speaks for the entire school in congratulating this organization on the splendid work accomplished during its first year of existence.

You Have to Sell Yourself First

No one knows better than a successful salesman that you have to sell yourself as well as your product. In fact, sometimes the sale of your product depends on how well you've sold yourself to the man you're doing business with.

Young men and women seeking regular jobs for the first time will find this true, too. Getting a job often depends on the way you've sold yourself to the man you want to work for.

A high school education is a big help in building up "sales features" for yourself. You receive the training and experience you'll need when you're seeking a job . . . and when you're keeping one.

To the Class of 1951, New Holland Machine Company sends a sincere wish for successful "selling" all your lives.

In Appreciation

The Leoninus Business Staff of 1951 wishes to thank the students, members of the faculty, and all the other organizations that have made possible the publication of this yearbook.

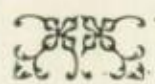

We are very grateful to Miss Virginia M. Hoffman and Mr. Roy W. Brandau, the teachers in charge of the Editorial and Business Staffs, to the teachers who gave us the use of their class time; to The Clarion Office, who took care of the printing and binding; to Mr. Peel for his fine photographic work, and to all the members of the staffs who gave hours of their time to the development and completion of this publication.

To the subscribers of our advertisements, we are especially grateful. These advertisers have given us their cooperation in making our yearbook a success. Let us all show our appreciation by reading their contributions and patronizing the contributors.
